Chapter 4: Scholastic Triumphs at Ateneo de Manila (1872-1877)

- Ateneo Municipal – The Jesuit-run college where Rizal studied; formerly the Escuela Pia (Charity School).
- Father Magin Ferrando – The college registrar who initially refused Rizal's admission due to his health and late registration.
- Manuel Xerez Burgos – The nephew of Father Burgos who intervened to help Rizal get admitted to Ateneo.
- Roman and Carthaginian Empires – The two student groups; Internos (boarders) were Romans, and Externos (non-boarders) were Carthaginians.
- Emperor – The title for the top-ranking student in each "empire".
- Rayadillo – The striped cotton material used for the Ateneo uniform, later adopted by revolutionary troops.
- Fr. Jose Bech – Rizal's first professor at Ateneo.
- Santa Isabel College – Where Rizal took private Spanish lessons during noon recesses.
- Fr. Francisco de Paula Sanchez – Rizal's favorite professor, a "model of uprightness" who inspired him to write poetry.
- March 23, 1877 – The date Rizal graduated at age 16 with a Bachelor of Arts degree with highest honors.
- Virgin Mary Sculpture – Carved by Rizal on Batikuling (hardwood) with a pocketknife.
- Fr. Lleonart – The Jesuit who requested Rizal to carve the Sacred Heart of Jesus.
- "Mi Primera Inspiracion" – The first poem Rizal likely wrote at Ateneo, dedicated to his mother's birthday.
- Segunda Katigbak – A 14-year-old from Lipa who was Rizal's first romance.

Chapter 5: Medical Studies at the University of Santo Tomas (1877-1882)

- Philosophy and Letters – Rizal's first course at UST (1877-78) before switching to Medicine.
- Mother's Opposition – Doña Teodora vigorously opposed his higher education, fearing the Spaniards would execute him.
- Medicine – Rizal chose this career specifically to cure his mother's growing blindness.
- Perito Agrimensor – The title of "expert surveyor" Rizal earned at Ateneo while simultaneously studying at UST.
- "Miss L" – A mysterious woman in Calamba Rizal courted after Segunda, though the romance ended because his father disliked her family.

• Leonor Valenzuela (Orang) – A tall girl Rizal courted using invisible ink made of common table salt and water.

• Leonor Rivera (Taimis) – Rizal's cousin and sweetheart from Camiling; they became engaged, and she used the pen name "Taimis" in letters.

• "A La Juventud Filipina" (To the Filipino Youth) – His prize-winning poem (1879) that called the youth the "fair hope of my Fatherland".

• "El Consejo de los Dioses" – An allegorical drama that won first prize in a 1880 contest, defeating Spanish writers.

• Companerismo (Comradeship) – A secret society of Filipino students founded by Rizal at UST to fight Spanish students.

• Victim of Brutality – Rizal was slashed on the back by a Guardia Civil lieutenant in 1878 for not saluting in the dark.

Chapter 6: In Sunny Spain (1882-1885)

• Secret Mission – Rizal's goal to observe European life and government to prepare for the liberation of the Philippines.

• Salvadora – The steamer Rizal took from Manila to Singapore; the refined captain was Donato Lecha.

• Djemnah – The French steamer he took from Singapore to Europe.

• "Amor Patrio" (Love of Country) – His first article on Spanish soil, published in Diariong Tagalog under the name Laong Laan.

• Universidad Central de Madrid – Where Rizal studied Medicine and Philosophy and Letters.

• Consuelo Ortiga y Perez – A Madrid romance he ended because of his engagement to Leonor Rivera and his friendship with Eduardo de Lete.

• Lodge Acacia – The Masonic lodge he joined to seek help against the friars.

• Luna and Hidalgo Banquet – A celebration where Rizal gave a famous speech honoring Juan Luna (Spoliarium) and Felix Resurreccion Hidalgo (Christian Virgins Exposed to the Populace).

• June 21, 1884 – The date Rizal was conferred the degree of Licentiate in Medicine.

Chapter 7: Paris to Berlin (1885-1887)

• Dr. Louis de Weckert – A leading French ophthalmologist Rizal assisted in Paris.

• Juan Luna Paintings – Rizal posed as an Egyptian priest in "The Death of Cleopatra" and as Sikatuna in "The Blood Compact".

• Dr. Otto Becker – The German ophthalmologist Rizal worked for at the University Eye Hospital in Heidelberg.

• "A Las Flores de Heidelberg" – A poem inspired by light blue "forget-me-not" flowers.

• Pastor Karl Ullmer – A Protestant pastor Rizal stayed with in Wilhelmsfeld.

• Ferdinand Blumentritt – An Austrian ethnologist who became Rizal's lifelong best friend; their first contact involved Rizal sending the book "Aritmetica".

• Dr. Feodor Jagor – Author of Travels in the Philippines; Rizal met him in Berlin.

• Dr. Rudolf Virchow – A famous German anthropologist who invited Rizal to join the Ethnographic Society.

• "Tagalische Verkunst" – A scholarly paper on Tagalog metrical art Rizal read in German to the Berlin Ethnographic Society.

Chapter 8: Noli Me Tangere Published in Berlin (1887)

• Uncle Tom's Cabin – The Harriet Beecher Stowe novel that inspired Rizal to write his own novel depicting Philippine miseries.

• Maximo Viola – A friend from Bulacan who became the "Savior of the Noli" by loaning Rizal P300 to print 2,000 copies.

• Berliner Buchdruckei-Action-Gesselschaft – The printing shop that published the novel.

• French Spy – Berlin police suspected Rizal was a spy because he frequently visited rural villages.

• March 21, 1887 – The date the Noli Me Tangere came off the press.

• Gospel of St. John – The biblical source for the title "Noli Me Tangere" (Touch Me Not).

• "Elias and Salome" – The chapter Rizal deleted from the manuscript to save on printing costs.

• Characters – Ibarra (Rizal), Maria Clara (Leonor Rivera), and Pilosopo Tasio (Paciano).

Chapter 9: Rizal's Grand Tour of Europe with Viola (1887)

• Leitmeritz – The town where Rizal and Viola finally met Blumentritt in person on May 13, 1887.

• Hotel Krebs – Where they stayed in Leitmeritz; Rizal accidentally left a diamond stickpin here.

- Burgomaster – The town mayor of Leitmeritz, amazed by Rizal's mastery of German in only eleven months.

- Vienna – Known as the "Queen of the Danube"; they met the novelist Norfenfals here.

- Paper Napkins – A novelty Rizal observed during a boat trip on the Danube; Viola noted they were more hygienic than cloth.

- Nuremberg – A city where Rizal saw torture machines used by the Inquisition.

- Igorots – Rizal was outraged by the degrading exhibition of Igorots at the 1887 Madrid Exposition.

- Vatican – The "City of the Popes," which Rizal visited on June 29, 1887.